Support Builds for Pacific Defense Pact

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE.

Washington, July 18 —(AP)—Congressional demands for a Pacific mutual defense pact along North Atlantic treaty lines piled up today as the house opened debate on the $1,222,500,000 arms bill.

Solid bipartisan support assured, without question, passage of President Truman's request for second-year military assistance to the non-Communist world when the bill comes to a final vote tomorrow.

Tagged "urgent" by Chairman Kee (D-W.Va.) of the house foreign affairs committee, the bill cleared the rules committee yesterday in record time.

Republicans as well as Democrats predicted there would be few, if any, votes cast against it. The bill passed the senate 66 to 0.

House discussion of the measure was expected to center around what some members of both parties regard as a mandate for the U. S. to take the lead in setting up a mutual defense pact in the Pacific.

The house foreign affairs committee, in sending the arms bill to the floor, reported unanimous agreement to the Pacific pact proposal. Resolutions embodying the committee statement also have been introduced separately by members of both parties. The proposal was not incorporated in the senate-passed arms bill.

However, it has strong support in the senate and its backers say it was passed over only to avoid parliamentary delays on the arms bill at a time when the Korean crisis called for speed.

The house committee ignored the advice of Secretary of State Acheson in advocating the formation of a Pacific alliance.

Acheson, in a number of recent appearances before the house group, counseled against taking the lead in a Pacific agreement patterned after the North Atlantic treaty.

At these hearings, the secretary of state took the position the nations of the Pacific should start the ball rolling themselves, thus avoiding the appearance of U. S. interference.

Rep. Judd (R-Minn.), a leader of the "pact forces," accused Acheson today of "working off" China, Formosa and Korea before the outbreak of Korean hostilities.

Game and Fish Commission Gets New Chairman

Little Rock, July 18 —(AP)—The Arkansas game and fish commission has a new chairman—Harry G. Barr of Fort Smith.

He was elected at a session here yesterday to succeed Roy Perryman, Calico Rock.

H. T. Patton, Camden, was named vice-chairman.

Ladies and Gentlemen of Hempstead County

When I announced for the position of Sheriff and Collector I said that I would look to the good people of the county who wanted to see the law enforced fairly and equally without regard to race, creed or color.

You, ladies and gentlemen, elect representatives who make the laws. Those laws should be enforced or our American way of life is in danger.

My one promise is to work diligently with all of my heart and soul to make Hempstead County one of the best counties in the State of Arkansas. I pledge you that I will listen to your complaints and suggestions and do all within my power to give you the relief desired.

With your help I can make your county a model county, free of any lawless element now existing or that may "try" to exist in the future.

Mobile Officers Fired Due to Union Affiliation

Mobile, Ala., July 18 —(AP)—Forty-one Mobile policemen and firemen were fired today for refusal to sign statements of non-union affiliation.

Eight policemen and 33 firemen were discharged. They failed to sign the non-union statements by last midnight, the deadline prescribed by a city ordinance.

Police Chief Dudley E. McFadden and Fire Chief L. L. Petrey said normal operations of the departments would not be affected. Petrey said, remaining firemen would "double up" temporarily to handle fire fighting equipment.

The ordinance passed a week ago, brought a threat by a labor leader that unions here might take a "holiday" to show their strength.

Sam Shannon, a member of the executive board of the Mobile Central Trades council, said a general shutdown for a day or two might show the city commissioners "how strong we really are."

Shannon made the statement in calling a mass meeting for 7:30 p.m. tonight to consider the city's ban against union membership for firemen and members of the police force.

The Mobile police local says that 100 of the 125 members of the police department belong to the union. The firemen's union claims 90 per cent membership.

One Time 4-Fs to Be Called in Next War

By VERN HAUGLAND

Washington, July 18 —(AP)—The army's forthcoming draftees must have better teeth than was required for World War II duty, but they need not be quite so stable emotionally.

And in the event of a war a general reduction in standards for military service is in prospect, so that many men who once might have been rated 4-F may shoulder arms.

Furthermore, plans are under way to see that in such an emergency, 4-Fs are funneled into suitable essential jobs in which they might be needed.

These were developments today as draft boards over the nation began filing the army's demand for 20,000 replacements by Sept. 30. The draftees will take the place of men being sent overseas because of the Korean crisis.

There may be another draft call next month. Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said yesterday. He added:

"And if things continue to grow worse, it may be necessary to tighten the law concerning exemptions of veterans and the regulations concerning dependents."

An army spokesman said that men now being drafted must have at least 16 teeth "in proper position" in order to be accepted.

During World War II men were admitted no matter how bad their teeth. The higher qualification, the spokesman said, is due to a shortage of dentists in the army and the inability of the defense depart-

Baptists to Discontinue Central College

Little Rock, July 18 —(AP)—The executive board of the Arkansas Baptist convention has voted to "permanently discontinue" operation of Central college at North Little Rock.

The 50-man board's action is subject to approval by the Arkansas Baptist convention. However, a church spokesman said that most recommendations offered by the board are approved by the convention.

Central college was moved to North Little Rock from Conway two years ago.

The resolution, released today, said:

"We recommend that the operation of Central college be permanently discontinued. That all of the assets of the institution be placed in the hands of the proper agency for the liquidation of all financial obligations against the college."

The school has been in financial difficulty for some time, a spokesman said.

ment to provide unlimited upper and lower plates.

On the other hand, the army has reduced its standards to admit "mild" neuropsychiatric cases. During the war no known psychoneuroses were admitted.

The spokesman said men afflicted with nervousness or agitation now may be admitted for service in the zone of the interior.

"We found during the war that many men rejected for mild psychoneurosis could have been used satisfactorily," he explained.

Maiden Voters

Little Rock, July 18 —(AP)—All persons reaching the age of 21 between April 10, 1949, and Oct. 1, 1950, are eligible to vote in all elections up to Oct. 1, 1950, without a poll tax.

Attorney General Ike Murry

made that ruling in an official opinion yesterday.

He said the ruling was based on a recent Supreme court opinion.

Five states suffering poliomyelitis called on the U. S. Public Health Service for assistance in 1949.

HOW TO MEASURE A BILLION FEET OF NATURAL GAS

You've heard of civil and mechanical engineers, but have you ever heard of a gas measurement engineer? It is a specialized world we live in, and this is a new profession that has grown up with natural gas pipe lines.

Gas measurement is a skilled profession, and it has developed "tools" which are a marvel of precision. Here is how these "tools" measure three-quarters of a billion cubic feet of gas each day on the Inch Lines.

Measuring With A Hole

At stations along the lines are scores of "orifice meters." The innards of these meters contain a heavy alloy steel plate with a hole so accurately machined, its edges cut like a razor. The meters measure the pressure of gas passing through this hole and translate it into a pen line on a recording chart.

These charts, from New York to Texas, are sent to a central office. There another machine scans the ink lines and converts them into numbers of cubic feet. From these figures engineers learn just how well the pipe lines are doing their job.

Watching Gas Miles Away

On Texas Eastern lines, a new type of equipment is being installed as a further aid to dispatchers and engineers in regulating the flow of gas. This is the automatic telemeter which permits one man to see at a glance the records of many measuring stations located miles apart.

He's a LEVELER...

Being a "leveler" may mean the exacting job of levelling new equipment on the Inch Lines. That's what the skilled foreman above is doing with a sign language all his own. But a "leveler" also means being "on the level" with others. It is as that kind of "leveler" that Texas Eastern and the men and women who operate the Big Inch System strive to do a good job as citizens of your county.

ON THE PIPE LINES

The Light Touch With Heavy Equipment

Company crews are busy the year round adding new refinements to the Big Inch and Little Big Inch pipe lines so that they can do better their essential job of carrying natural gas. Installing a new valve (above) calls for skillful adjustment to the fraction of an inch; yet at the same time the work must be done at top speed so as not to hold up the gas traffic. It requires a light but sure touch.

Check, double check, double check

While the welder waits to finish his job on a new valve, the foreman double checks his judgment with a spirit level. Great care is taken in construction on the Inch Lines. Texas Eastern takes equal care in fulfilling its obligations as a local taxpayer and citizen of your county.

New Blood Test Detects Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Paris, July 18 (AP)—A new blood test has so far proved almost 100 per cent accurate in detecting cancer in humans, three Swiss physicians reported today.

They told the fifth international cancer research congress the test is based on a chemical that appears in the blood of persons with cancer. The chemical breaks down a certain kind of sugar, pentose sugar. The test is made by adding blood serum from the person to a solution of the sugar.

The method was described by Dr. Georges Menkes, Dr. P. Ren-derick and Dr. S. Steenmi, of Geneva.

The test was tried, they said, on 200 persons with various kinds of cancer. It was 95 per cent right. An improved version was employed on the second hundred. Dr. Menkes said it was almost 100 per cent accurate.

Blood from 42 of 44 healthy persons produced no reaction on the pentose sugar, while 88 per cent of 124 persons with diseases other than cancer also showed negative reactions to the test, the Swiss expert said.

Rats were given a cancer-causing chemical. The sugar-destroying chemical appeared in their blood at the same time as the microscope showed a cancerous change in the rats' tissues.

The sugar-destroying chemical seems to be a constant and probably peculiar property of the blood of cancer patients, Dr. Menkes concluded.

The congress also heard a description of a new injection technique in which hollow tubes, pushed through human arteries, wind as far as five feet through the body to deliver cancer shots of drugs against cancer growths.

Dr. Michael B. Shumkin of San Francisco's national cancer institute said the tubes can carry large amounts of drugs to the site of the cancer. Twice as much of the drug injected into a vein would be greatly diluted before it reached the same site, he explained.

Rights Issue Chief Topic in Politics

Indiana ordinarily has no connection with Arkansas politics, but a speech made there is now an issue in the race for the Democratic nomination as governor of Arkansas.

Former Gov. Ben Laney at Forrest City Monday night, quoted from a speech Gov. Sid McMath made at Indianapolis in an effort to show the governor is supporting President Truman's civil rights program.

At the same time, McMath in Paragould was denying that he favors socialized medicine and warning that federal encroachment threatens in other fields unless problems are solved on a state and community basis.

Laney, troubled by hoarse-ness, spoke to a crowd estimated at 2,000 by Forrest City Mayor Jack Porter.

He said that in the Indianapolis speech McMath "accused the leadership of Arkansas of always being aristocratic and having no interest in the average man." He also said McMath there recommended changes "in our social order" and said that "abolition of the poll tax has been demanded by his liberal friends for years."

The former governor also jibed at McMath's Saturday prediction of a McMath victory by 100,000 votes.

"If he believes he'll win by 100,000 votes, why doesn't he stay in the governor's office and take care of the state's business instead of campaigning so hard?" he asked.

McMath, who flew to Jonesboro in a heavy rainstorm and then drove to Paragould, said he had made it clear many times he is opposed to socialized medicine, but pointed out that many counties of the state do not have doctors and nurses.

He reported construction on a state medical center will begin in October, and that it will furnish more doctors and nurses.

Laney Saturday said during his administration $1,800,000 had been appropriated for a medical school hospital, later incorporated in medical school plans, and charged McMath delayed construction of the center.

The governor declared, however, that the $1,800,000 had been available during the last two years of Laney's administration that that he had made no move to use it, and let it revert to the state treasury.

He added that Laney's "do nothing policy" regarding the medical center was the same as Laney's "do nothing road program."

He also jibed at Laney's choice of a slogan. He declared the former governor is using the slogan "re-elect Ben Laney for a second time", and charged that it is misleading and a "slick attempt to fool the people."

DOROTHY DIX Gossiping Wife

Dear Dorothy Dix: All of my married life, which has been a good many years, my wife has discussed all of our private affairs with the neighbors or anyone who will listen. I have implored her time and again not to do this, but it does no good. Every fault of the children and myself, every mistake we make, every wrong thing we do she broadcasts to the world. What can I do, or what should I do with a wife who is so disloyal?

H. E. B.

Answer: I doubt if women who go about publicizing all of their private affairs and rattling the family skeleton for the diversion of the neighbors are mentally responsible and if they can help doing as they do. Certainly there is something wrong with the brain of one who has so little discretion as not to know what to tell and what not to tell about one's family, and so little taste as to be willing to make the faults and foibles of one's husband and children a subject for the criticism or the ridicule of all their acquaintances.

Can Harm Husband's business

Certainly no normal woman would want to injure her husband financially, since her own prosperity depends upon his, yet it is a common thing to hear a wife complain to anyone who will listen about how she has to economize because her husband is such a poor business man, or telling all and sundry that her husband is indolent, or that he gambles or drinks. Very often not a word of these charges is true, but the wife's irresponsible chatter as it passes from lip to lip hoods the man and effectively blocks his changes of getting a better job.

Worse still, if possible, these women who tell all of their secret sorrows to the neighbors blacken the characters of their own children. They confide in the woman who keeps the corner grocery that they don't know what in the world they are going to do with Sally, who didn't get home until 4 o'clock and who is running with a wild crowd.

And that Tom is drinking too much and Freddy won't stick at a job and Sammy is hanging around the pool-rooms instead of trying to get work.

And they never seem to realize that they have done their children a deadlier injury than malice itself could invent, because they have established them in everybody's mind as a lot of young wastrels who are no good and not to be trusted.

What makes women talk too much goodness only knows. Some just seem to be hypnotized by the sound of their own voices and when they once get started can't stop. Others want to hold their audience spellbound and the only way they can do this is by telling their family secrets. People will always listen to them.

And still others have such a morbid desire to be sympathized with and pitied that they are willing to offer up their families to be "poor-deared" for having such mean husbands and such ungrateful children.

But there is no way to stop'em and that's the pity of it.

Dear Miss Dix: My home has been broken up by a tyrannical and interfering mother-in-law and it is now necessary for me to support myself and a 6-year-old son. Before marriage I was a secretary, but if I return to the business world I suppose I'll be lucky enough to get a stenographer's job. Since keeping house I have learned to be fairly good cook and like cooking very much. My problem is this: Shall I brush up on secretarial work, or take a course in domestic science so as to be an excellent cook? Which is my best bet?

Answer: It seems to me that domestic work offers a field that is especially their own to women and which they can till to greater advantage than almost any other. And it is a field that offers particular opportunities to women of intelligence and education because

McGehee Polio Patient Goes to Warm Springs

McGehee, July 18 (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Jeannette Anderson, McGehee polio patient, was to leave today for Warm Springs, Ga., to receive treatment provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Rotarians who have helped to make school possible for her the past semester by providing her transportation to and from school and arranging for a wheel chair, have co-operated in plans to send her to the polio foundation center. Missouri Pacific railroad and Western Union will furnish transportation.

Jeanette was stricken in 1949.

most of the workers in it have little skill and knowledge and no ambition to do fine work. The woman who keeps a boarding house and who is thereby enabled to house and feed and keep with her a brood of children or her parents as so many do, could never have hoped to have earned a salary that would support them unless she had some very great talent.

You must, of course, decide your own problem, but if I were in your place I'd make myself a cracker-jack cook and start some sort of little eating place. People will always go anywhere where there is superlatively good food.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I want to marry. Where can I find a girl who is good and honest; who can take life on the chin and come up smiling; who has character and courage and would be a helpmate to a poor man; who would marry for keeps and be true to the end, somebody whom I can look up to; who is domestic and affectionate?

RICHARD

Answer: You can probably find her right around the corner some girl you have never noticed because she hasn't run after you, some girl who doesn't go out much because the boys don't date her up.

100-Year Fight With Reds Is Visualized

Detroit, July 18 (AP)—Reuther proposed today that United States invest more than a trillion dollars in a 100-year fight to rid the world of communism.

Reuther, president of the United Auto workers union, long-time foe of communism, the proposal to President Truman in a letter to the President's union chieftain advocated a "total peace offensive" against "America's leadership" in "selling necessity" for "communist survival."

Reuther proposed a "total point" worldwide program. United Nations sponsorship. America's financial center would be at the rate of $1,000,000 a year.

The total final investment, 100 years, would be $1,000,000,000 — or, as Reuther said, "the last war to the U. S. (One trillion dollars) is a multiple 1,000 times."

Reuther's communication to Truman was of a dramatic action.

In his draft of a worldwide program he concluded with the statement: "We are at the place in history where we must see that the best hope of saving and achieving a just and lasting peace is in action — a challenging, so vast in scope, practical in design, and in purpose that it will fill the vacuum in the world with hope and a renewed operation among the people of nations."

A PERSONAL LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY

After spending about three years of service overseas with the Armed Services in World War No. 2, I returned home and asked the people of Hempstead County for the office of Sheriff of this County, I was defeated by a very small margin, (for the very splendid vote and support that you gave me I am deeply grateful.) I have waited four years and again I earnestly seek your vote and support for this very important office.

I have no criticism to offer so far as service is concerned on the part of any one. One of my opponents has served you for four years, which I think is fair and according to the Democratic rule. I have never held a Public office, but have had twelve years of experience as an enforcement officer, and I feel that this has helped qualify me to serve you well, and will appreciate the same courtesy that my opponent has had.

I am not making any wild promises, as I am thoroughly acquainted with the enforcement laws of the County and State, and most all officers enforce the law according to the support he receives from the best people in the County. No officer can enforce the law by himself.

If I am honored with this office I expect to give it my entire time, and see that the people of this county have a fair and honest administration. I will welcome the advice and help from all the good people that stand for the right thing; But will not be dictated to or influenced by any one that is seeking personal gain. My deputies will be qualified and will meet with the approval of the people to the very best of my ability. All Township officers will have to meet the approval of the majority of the people in that Township.

At this time I have no plans, or promises as to who these deputies will be, nor will I until I am elected, and talk to the best people in that Township.

In November of this year the people of this State will go to the Polls and vote on the question as to whether this will be a dry, or wet State. As to the Prohibition question, please let me make myself clear, I am not and never have been a whiskey man. My people before me have been opposed to alcohol, and when I am elected your sheriff I intend to enforce the laws of the County and State of Arkansas to the fullest extent, and be fair and honest to every man and woman in the County.

So with these promises I will appreciate your vote and support, and will further promise that you will not regret my serving you as your next Sheriff and Collector.

Respectfull yours,

Signed: J. W. (SON) JONES

Social Security Benefits Are Extended

Washington, July 17 (AP). — A house-senate conference committee agreed today on language blanketing about 5,000,000 non-farm self-employed persons and 1,000,000 domestic servants under the old age benefits of the social security program.

This was the first action of the committee which is working out a compromise on separate social security expansion measures passed by the two houses.

No announcement was made after the closed-door session, but house conferees were reported to have accepted the senate's bill's language on domestic workers and the self-employed including independent businessmen.

This language would still exempt from the program certain self-employed such as doctors and lawyers, architects, public accountants and engineers. Publishers would be covered.

Coverage would be extended to nonfarm domestic servants regularly employed — those who work at least 24 days in each three-month period and receive as much as $50 in wages during that time.

The conferees passed over, for a late decision, the problem of how to bring regularly employed farm workers into the program.

Domestic Issue Enters Race for Governor

Little Rock, July 17 (AP). — The Arkansas governor's race, pegged to domestic issues by two men of some national renown, heads into the stretch drive this week.

One week from tomorrow, in the July 25 preferential primary, the voters probably will give the Democratic nomination to Gov. Sid McMath, the friend of President Truman, or former Gov. Ben Laney, a staunch foe of the President.

But the campaign to date indicates the two men differ more on how to operate the state of Arkansas than on the broader national issues.

Laney, who had been sniping at a different operation of McMath's administration each week, last week charged that the governor is responsible for a delay in construction of a state medical center.

McMath, who predicted that he will win next Tuesday's election by 100,000 votes, accused Laney of "condoning" the regime of former Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin in Hot Springs.

He also challenged Laney to outline his highway program.
Charges and counter-charges have come wave on wave.

The former governor several times criticized McMath's use of state-owned cars. The governor came back with a list of state-owned cars which he said were used by Laney, when he was governor, and his staff.

Both men have dwelt at length upon their records in office. Mc-Math in each community in which he had appeared has put special emphasis on his highway program since it was the principal plank in his 1928 campaign and has been under constant fire by Laney.

Laney reports his was a business administration which lowered taxes, raised teachers' salaries and left a surplus in the treasury.

They start the final full week of campaigning before the preferential primary today. McMath with a speech at Paragould tonight, and Laney with one in Forrest City.

The governor is to be at Mountain Home tomorrow afternoon and Harrison tomorrow night, El Dorado Wednesday night, Fort Smith Thursday night, Jonesboro
Friday night and at a statewide rally in Little Rock Saturday night.

Laney will speak at Jonesboro
Tuesday night, Blytheville Wednesday and Caraway Thursday. His plans for Friday and Saturday have not been completed.

Hope Held for 3 Men Trapped in Tunnels

Lark, Utah, July 18 — (AP) — Hope remained alive today for the safety of three men trapped in a maze of interlacing tunnels by a fire which broke out before dawn Sunday.

The bodies of two men were brought from the American smelting, mining and refining company's lead mine yesterday. The bodies were located by a rescue team of volunteer mine workers 7,500 feet below the surface in the Mascotte tunnel.

The dead were identified as Horace Martin Seal, 59, a hoist operator, and Byron G. Thomas, 46, surface foreman.

The three men who remained somewhere in the mine were listed by company officials as Leland Nielsen, 38, pump operator Robert Gordon Meyerhoffer, 38, electricians' foreman, and Clyde Augustson, 41, assistant mine superintendent. All were Lark residents.

Grimy and tired crews continued the search early today after four fans had been set up to clear the dense smoke being caught into the tunnels by burning timbers.

A company official, asked if he believed there was any chance of rescuing the three remaining men alive, said:

"My hopes are still high."
Oscar A. Glaeser, industrial relations manager for the company, who is in charge of rescue operations, made the statement.
